enator Cullom Dwells on the Beauties of the Interstate Commerce Act—Republicans in the House Resort to Filibustering on the Mills Bill.

Bu Telegraph to The 7 imes.
WASHINGTON (D. C.), June 12.—[By the Associated Press. | Senate.-Mr. Chandler offered a resolution referring the creden-tials of Senator Gibson of Louislana, for his new term, to the Committee on Privileges and Elections, and instructing the commit-tee to inquire into all the facts as to the Senatorial election, and ascertain and re-port whether or not at the recent State election in Louisiana, which included the election of the State Legislature, the 136,746 votes returned for the candidate of the Democratic party for Governor were actually cast; the inquiry being in view of the fact that at no previous election had the votes for the candidate of such party exceeded 88,794, and to inquire why, in the parish of Madison, 35,000 votes were cast for one party and none for the other, and why, in East Feliciana and other parishes, there were similar returns: also to ascertain and report whether or not at such State election there was any violence, intimidation or fraud that prevented a fair election, and whether false returns were made and counted, and whether the State of Louisiana had on the 22d of May, 1888 (the day of election), a Republican form of government, including a Legislature, entitled to chose United States Senators.

Laid over until tomorrow. The resolution of yesterday, offered by Mr. Stewart, calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for a statement of offers and purchases of bonds since April, 1888, with names, etc., was taken up and discussed.

Mr. Cockrell having moved to amend by striking out the names, Mr. Stewart argued against the amendment. He expressed the belief that some persons had a secret advantage in the matter.

Mr. Beck thought that the amendment to strike out the names was entirely proper. The statement called for (without giving names) would show whether bids are made at any lower rates than are usually paid for

Mr. Stewart asked whether Mr. Beck supposed that the Treasury books would not show everything to be regular. Did he not know it to be possible to have the word passed around that some individual had the ear of the Secretary, and that bonds should be offered through him. The people had a right to know with whom the Government was dealing.

Mr. Beck said the Senator would not rise and say that he believed, or had any reason to believe, that the Secretary of the Treasury had refused any bid that was one-Treasury had refused any bid that was oneeighth, or one-tenth, or one-hundredth of 1 per cent. lower than he actually paid. The Senator would not avow that. It was not true, therefore. No good could come of publishing names, nothing but evil would come of it, because men would be deterred from making offers of bonds in their own names, and would have recourse to brokers, thus adding to the cost.

Mr. Stewart said that he did not want to expose anybody's hand, but he wanted to know whether there existed a money trust with the Government.

Mr. Cockrell modified his amendment so as after "names" to insert the words

Mr. Cockrell modified his amendment so as after "names" to insert the words "other than private persons."

Mr. George asked Mr. Stewart whether he had any information on which he relied for his belief than any lower bid had been rejected and any higher bid accepted.

Mr. Stewart: None whatever. That is the information I want to get by offering this resolution.

rejected and any higher bid accepted.

Mr. Stewart: None whatever. That is the information I want to get by offering this resolution.

Mr. Cockrell said the Senator from Nevada would not dare to charge misconduct on the Secretary of the Treasury.

Mr. Stewart: I will say this, that the last campaign was run on the issue of the books, and now they are open. I want to keep themopen.

Mr. Cockrell: That is a very pitiful subterfuge in answer to a direct question.
The Senator from Nevada has been attempting, by indirect means, means unworthy of a Senator, to cast inflections, without having the matter or the courage to make a direct charge. Every bit of information which the resolution calls for is published in the newspapers every day, and he knows it. It is nothing but morbid curiosity that would ask for the publication of names. It seems to me that the whole proceeding is in the interest of corporations and trusts, and that the whole object of the resolution is to bring before the kondholders the names and addresses of the great corporations and trusts that are offering bonds to the Government so that individuals may send their bonds to them. It is a cheap way of advertising them at public expense through the Associated Press. I should think they could afford to pay a round sum of money for the passage of this resolution, and doubtless if they were called upon they would contribute a good round sum to the campaign tund.

Mr. Stewart said that when he offered the resolution he had no suspicion that there was anything to be covered up, but his faith had been shaken by the vehemence with which the Senator from Missouri was attempting to conceal facts. Where there was so much smoke there must be some fire.

Mr. Call argued that the resolution was an indirect reflection on the high character of the Secretary of the Treasury, and had no practical use.

Mr. Gorman deprecated the introduction of party polities on such a subject, and complimented Senator. Sierman for his remarks yesterday and for his having aided practical use.

Mr. Gorman deprecated the introduction of party politics on such a subject, and complimented Senator Sherman for his remarks yesterday and for his having aided in legislation authorizing the purchase of bonds. He regretted that the subject had been brought in as a football to be kicked around with a desire to embarrass the Treasury Department and to bring about financial disaster before the Presidential election. If any investigation were required in the matter, it should be made by a committee of the Senate, a body organized in opposition to the Administration. He, therefore, moved a reference of the resolution to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. Stewart said that he did not want it referred to a committee, because he did not want the resolution to be killed.

The resolution went over without action till tomorrow.

On motion of Mr. Cullom the bill to amend the Interstate Commerce Law was taken up and Mr. Cullom proceeded to address the Senate in explanation and advocacy of it. The passage of that act, he said, marked a new era in the management of the railway business of the United States, One of the immediate effects of it had been the abandonment of all pools by carriers; but the associations through which pooling had been carried on had been reorganized and conducted to carry out their objects, but it was the general belief that the division of business and freights which had been the most objectionable features of the pooling system had ceased entirely, and that places which had been formerly held in thraidrom by the pools had, since the passage of the act, enjoyed the advantage of competition between the rival lines. The long and short haul section had been effective in relieving smaller cities which formerly suffered most from the blight of dominating railroad pools, but the existing traffic associations still managed to control rates on certain classes of traffic as arbitrarily as in the palmiest days of the old pooling system. Cases were pending before the commission which involved these questions, and which might result in breaking up the arbitrary control still exercised by the trunk lines over certain important classes of traffic. If they did not, it would be necessary for Congress to strengthen the pooling section so as to prohibit combinations among carriers to confrol traffic. Another noticeable effect of the law had been the immediate termination of a vast number of favored shippers. Prominent among the evils complained of before the passage of the Interstate Commerce acthad been the secret cutting of rates, sudden fluctuation of rates and the prevailing system of special rates. These evils had not yet been entirely abolished, but the provision of the law making it unlawful for a carrier to charge more or less than its schedule rates had very largely put an end to secret cutting. The changes which the law had awrought in that particular were very noteworthy and exceedingly satisfactory to business men and manufacturers, and indeed to all shippers. In regard to the transportation of passengers, the law had already effected some very important reforms, and had almost completely done away with the evils formerly complained of.

Mr. Cullom referred to the payment of commissiofs, and reviewed cases of dis-already effected some very important reforms, and had almost completely done away with the evils formerly complained of.

Mr. Cullom referred to the payment of commissions, and reviewed cases of discrimination decided by the commission. In speaking of the cases brought by George Rice against various southern railroads based on discriminations against him and in favor of the Standard Oil Company, Mr. Cullom said that the testimony in these cases shows beyond dispute that the different roads persistently discriminated against Rice in every imaginable way. They had frequently refused to give him information about rates, and had deceived him as to rates when they did name them. In short, the testimony made evident that the officers of the roads acted in concert to do whatever they could to interfere with his business, and the proceedings demonstrated the shameless subserviency of railroads involved in the contaminating influence of the most unscrupulous "combine" of the present day—the gigantic Standard Oil Trust, Mr. Cullom thought it must be conceded that the law had been of very great value to the people in reducing rates, especially in view of the long-and-short-haul principle.

Mr. Collum then proceeded to explain what was proposed to be effected by the amendments. They would, if in the law, greatly add to its effectiveness, One of them was to require three days' notice of a reduction of rates. At present no notice was required for a reduction but only for an advance in rates. Another amendment as well as to fines. Another amendment as well as to fines. Another mendment as the payment of rebates or discriminating by any other device.

In conclusion Mr. Cullom said: "There is no business question in which the people in rether was directed against the practice had increased enormously since the Interstate Commerce Act took effect, and was as clearly unlawful as the payment of rebates or discriminating by any other device.

In conclusion Mr. Cullom said: "There is no business question in which the people."

The Senate then proceeded to the consideration of the Portification Appropriation Bill, and was addressed by Mr. Dolph on the subject of coast defenses. The bill went over without action and the District of Columbia Appropriation Bill was taken up. It also went over without action and the Senate adjourned.

Mr. Scott of Pennsylvania inquired whether it was in order for the gentleman to withdraw his amendment, and, upon the chair's replying in the negative, objected to Mr. Kelly's request.

The question recurring on Mr. Kelley's motion to strike out jute butts, the Republicans refrained from voting, and left time committee without a quorum.

The vote then proceeded, but no quorum voted, and another roli was called. Some warmth was shown throughout the colloquy, but by earnest efforts made by the chairman and Mr. Cannon of Illinois and Mr. McMillin of Tennessee, good nature-was again restored, and the floor was accorded to Mr. Scott, who disclaimed any intention of being factions in his objections to the withdrawal of Mr. Kelley's motion, but when formal amendments were made, simply for the purpose of delay, he believed it was his duty, in the interest of men-of the country, whose interests were more or less jeopardized even by discussion of the bill, to endeaver to secure a vote upon the measure, so duty, in the interest of men of the country, whose interests were more or less jeopardized even by discussion of the bill, to endeavor to secure a vote upon the measure, so that business men of the country would know what they had to do in order to manage their affairs. Mr. Kelley then offered his formal amendment to strike out the last word, and protested that he had offered no amendment during the 10 or 12 days of discussion from any other than creditable and patriotic motives. The committee rose, and the House adjourned.

CITIZENS NEAR THE MOUTH OF THE SEWER IN ARMS

The Sewer Committee, the Mayor "Times" Reporter Inspect the Proposed Sewer System-The Chances Are Good for a Main Sewer to the Sea.

Save for the never-ending talk on the gambling question, the sewer business is just now absorbing the attention of the nonorable Council, and giving it a world of trouble and hard thinking to do. To the sea or not to the sea. That's the problem they are trying to solve, and the Vernan district people and the South Side Irriga-tion Company are trying to assist them.

Yesterday afternoon, according to the pre-arranged plan, the Mayor, President of the Council, the Sewer Committee, mem-bers of the Council, the City Engineer, and representatives of the South Side Irrigation Company met at the City Hall, and, procur-ing carriages, drove out San Pedro street over the line of the main sewer of the city and out to the Vernon district, where the city's sewerage is furnished by the Irrigation Company to the citizens.

All along the line of the old Wilmington road the vineyards, the walnut and orange groves and the truck farms were green and thriving, and in the best condition. All groves and the truck farms were green and thriving, and in the best condition. All these were or had been irrigated with sewer water. The party first visited a small orange grove, in splendid condition, which had been irrigated as recently as Sunday. The study old gentleman who owned the The sturdy old gentleman who owned place said there was nothing on EARTH LIKE SEWER WATER. and if he had his choice he had rather pay for the sewer water than the zanja water. for the sewer water than the zanja water. He had used the former for a long time, and had never seen any evil effects from it. He proudly displayed a heap of potatoes, which he said had been irrigated with sewer water, and defied anybody to detect any consequent odor about them. He wanted sewer water, and wanted in bad.

The Councilmen were immensely pleased, so far, and gleefully slapped each other on the shoulders and said: "Now, I told you so. a. We are all right. We are not in such a pinch, after all."

The party then drove through McKinley so, s We are all right. We are not in such a pinen, after all."

The party then drove through McKinley Bros. nursery, the owners of which are, by the way, members of the Irrigation Company. The nursery was certainly in splendid condition, and there wasn't the suspicion of a smell about the place, and the Council linen were again congratulating themselves, but somehow it never occurred to them that the place hadn't been irrigated for some time, and all the ditches about the place were closed.

Within half a mile of the place, however, the party cams to the mouth of the main sewer. A deputation of Vernon people were waiting for them. They dismounted from the carriages and proceeded to inspect the sewer, so far as the stench would permit. At this point the sewerage first came linto the open air. The stench cannot be described. It was something awful. No person could stand over the mouth of the sewer more than a brief moment. The water was of a murky, milky color, and was filled with all the revolting, SICKENING EXCRETIONS of a great city, that went along with the volume of water down the open ditches, out volume of water down the open ditches, out over the lands to be spread in a corrupting, pulluting layer on the ground, where the hot sun came down and litted out of it all the poisoning gases that such matter contains. The night winds sweep over, and these odors are carried across the fields and into the doors and windows of the hundred pretty homes that cluster around. They salute the nostrils of sleeping citizens, and send into the blood the poison that is worse than malaria and almost as deadly as small-pox.

The Council surveyed this unsavory sight with long faces. It was more than they had looked for. The citizens lost not time in telling the Councilmen what they thought of them, and the management which could not relieve them of such a disagreeable presence. Mayor Workman answered them that the city would do its best to give them some relief if they would only allow it time. The citizens said they had been trying for a long time to get relief, had waited and walted, according to promise, and nothing had been done. Now there had come a time when they would take the matter into the courts and stop that water, or give the city more trouble than it ever had with anything. The Mayor assured them that the city would do even spend a little money to do it, if they would only wait. He then tried to impress upon them the fact that had it not been for this same sewer water about which they had so much to say, their lands would never The Council surveyed this unsavory court says they must abate the nuisance in 20 days, and it takes two years to build an outfall sewer to the sea.

The Tweedy ranch lies about five miles from the city limits, immediately east of Florence. A tenant has lately taken charge of it on a lease of 10 years. He wants water, and says he would be glad to get the sewer water, and would take all of it on his 600 acres. He made such a proposition to members of the Sewer Committee, and they immediately jumped at it. After leaving the Chinamen with their strawbernes and sewerage, the party drove over and surveyed the ground to the ranch. By a little inquiry they soon found out that to get the water to the ranch would require that it be piped nearly five miles. Then they began to figure on the scheme, and the resuit was that the work would cost, the city about $20,000, and it would require two or three months to get the water there. When the pipe was laid it could be no more than a temporary affair. Even though a contract for the 10 years were made with the tenant of the ranch, there are a hundred little things that might occur to throw the whole matter back into the hands of the city, and the whole scheme would amount to matter back into the hands of the city, and the whole scheme would amount to matter back into the hands of the city, and the whole scheme would amount to matter back into the hands of the city, and the whole scheme would amount to make the save to the sea, which must come sooner or later, $20,000 would have been spent on this scheme to get out of a legal trouble that might have been entirely avoided had the Council been doing its duty a year ago.

The entire party viewed this plan with favor, foolish as it was, and much as it would cost. Right before their eyes lay a plan a good deal more fassible and a good deal cheaper, yet they passed right over it with their eyes shut. It is the Ballona Railroad scheme. A branch ditch runs down on the road's right of way a consider-able distance already. To get the water to miles more of open ditch. It could be dug in two weeks, and would cost not exceed-ing $500. It would carry off every inch of the water, and would be a permanent thing. It is by a hundred times preferable to the other plan, and the Council cannot, in any-thing like consistency, refuse it. The ranch idea is not to be thought of while the other exists.

exists.

Completing the survey of the line to the ranch, the party returned to the city, and the result of their investigations will be made known at the next meeting of the Council.

The condition of affairs at Vernon is The condition of affairs at Vernon is very unsettled. Some time in May the citizens begar their protests and secured an injunction on one man who was using sewer water. He hasa't used any since. Jubiliant over their success, they have gone on until now the amount of water used for irrigating purposes in that immediate districts very small. McKinley Bros. need some of their own water pretty bad, but indignant citizens across the way say they can't have it; the courts sustain the people and they can't get it. It's a little exasperating to know that the life-giving full is flowing right along by one's land and yet for the sake of his nelghbor's nostrils he can't get a drop of it.

can't get a drop of it.

SNYDER'S NURSERY
is quite a handsome place, and Mr. Snyder is justly proud of it. But two or three times is justly proud of it. But two or three times in succession have Mr. Snyder's neighbors torn out the culvert which carries the sower-age across the Wilmington road into his green and growing fields, and he hasn't had any water for some time. When the Irrigation Company persisted in putting the culvert back as fast as it was torn up, the citizens, to further make sure of Mr. Snyder, got out an injunction against him. That has been some time ago, and Mr. Snyder's stock is now in such condition for want of water that they cannot live much longer, and the gentleman says he is in a tight box. Several other people are situated like Mr. Snyder, and it's a straight out case of "water, water everywhere, but not a drop to irrigate," Mr. Snyder is against the movement, and would be only too glad to get the severage, if his attentive neighbors would allow it.

get the severage, if his attentive neighbors would allow it.

On the other side of the question there is not a little bitterness of feeling. The people all say that they will have that water out of the country if they die for it. What good, they ask, will all the orange trees in the world do, it the health of our families and ourselves is ruined. That proposition is what they are making the fight on, and they propose fighting it to the bitter end, in the courts and otherwise. One of them remarked to the Mayor that he would like to buy some zanja water. The Mayor replied that the law wouldn't allow it to be sold to them. The gentleman then said that he had 990 as pretty orange trees as evergrew, but he

Among the other evidences of evil that Harmony the sewerage, they point to the Harmony School as a shining example. There were at one time 87 scholars in that school. A sewer ditch has been run near it. Sickness set in and the attendance dropped off to 15 or 20. In a short time the teacher was taken ill, and that school is a wreek.

dropped off to 15 or 20. In a short time the teacher was taken ill, and that school is a wreck.

Yesterday there was a trial by jury in Justice Taney's court of the case of the People vs. P. Young. The defendant is one of the parties concerned in the tearing up of the culvert across Wilmington road, and the irrigating company instigated the suit against him. Nine or ten witnesses were presented by the defense. No attempt was made to prove that he did not tear up the bridge, but all went to show that the sewer was a public nuisance, and though that was not the issue before the jury they were out but a short while before bringing in a verdict of not guilty, thus giving their practical support to the people, and backing up their fight.

The South Side Irrigation Company find themselves in a bad box. The water is on their hands, the people will not allow them to use it, and their business is going to the dogs generally. They are willing to do anything to get the contract off their hands, and are using all the persuasion in their power to get the Council to put the ranch scheme through.

They could not but acknowledge that the sewer water was rich and

A GREAT THING FOR IRRIGATING, so far as irrigating goes. "But," said one gendeman, "irrigation isn't all we want out here. The health of our families is something to us."

The party remained at the sewer about thalf an hour talking matters over and then drove further on to where a lot of Chinamen were picking strawberries, which, like everything else in that neighborhood, are irrigated with sewer water.

Right here it may be well to say a word about the strawberries, which like everything else in that neighborhood, are irrigated with sewer water.

Right here it may be well to say a word about the strawberries which list contamination. It floods the field and almost covers the ground. It stands there until the earth sucks it up, and during that time the luscious fruit lies in the water is all gone, then the Chinaman picks the berries, are on the vine and lying on the ground the sewer water is let in with all its contamination. There is also an oid-standing charge against Durain for stealing a pistol from one Arthur E. Smith. When the District Attorney had read the information regarding the stealing of the pistol the defendant pleaded guilty to the charge, and, having walved time for passing sentence, was asked by the Courtif he had anything to say why bentence should not be passed. Durain made a rambling statement to the effect that he must have been drunk when he committed the theft. He was then sentenced to be confined in the prison at San Quentin for two years.

SICK SPORTS.

THEY PUT A PRICE ON THE HEADS OF OFFICERS.

The White and Yellow Gamblers The Tin-horn Wire Pullers of the Democratic Party Become Very

There was nothing new in the gambling situation yesterday, so far as the white games were concerned. They all remained closed, and made no attempt whatever to run. In Chinatown, however, quite a lively state of affairs prevailed. The tan games made no effort to resume operations, but the yellow gamesters put in the time in standing around in groups excitedly dis-cussing the new order of things. The Mongolians are terribly worked up, and, from the present outlook, there will, in all probability, be serious trouble, which may result in some one getting killed, may result in some one getting killed, before matters settle down. A meeting of the representatives of the tan interests was held Monday night, at which Ah Foy, Ah Him, Ah Mow and other shining lights were present. The action of the non-paying contingent was denounced in strong-terms, and, as a result of the meeting, it was decided to offer $500 each for the killing of the four men who they say, are responsible for giving certain information to the Mayor and Mr. Humphreys by which they were enabled to shut up the games. The men upon whose heads a price has been put by these murderous highbunders are Wong Kong, Charley Que, Ah Sam and another one whose name is Ah Fong. It is said that the company controlling the games also agreed to obligate themselves to pay a certain sum for the support of the families of the murderers in case that the company controlling the games also agreed to obligate themselves to pay a certain sum for the support of the families of the murderers, in case they were detected and brought to justice. As soon as the Chinamen, whose lives had been threatened, learned what had been done, they went to the Mayor's office and asked for protection, at the same time telling what they had learned. His Honor promised them all the protection in his power, and said that if it were necessary he would detail a policeman to watch over them, as he does not propose to have the men buildozed into paying tribute into the corruption fund. Later in the day one of the Chinamen came before Justice Austin, and asked to have the highbinders put under bonds to keep the peace, but as that official was busy at the time, the man was referred to the District Attorney. All of the Chinamen insist that the action taken at the meeting means trouble, and the pigtails are greatly excited over it.

LOTTERY GAMES BAIDED. Detective Flickner and his squad are doing good work in Chinatown, Mr. Flickdoing good work in Chinatown, Mr. Flickner says not a single tan game was running yesterday, and that none of them will run while he is in charge of the work. During the afternoon Detective Flickner raided a couple of lottery games, together with Officers McGrath and Sheets, and captured a number of players, together with all their tickets and other paraphernalia. They were brought to the station, where they deposited $5 each, and were released. This is one of the first raids ever made on the Chinese lotteries, and if they are caught again they will not get off so easy. The officers will also keep their eyes open for Louisiana lottery shops and other like institutions.

On the streets.

ON THE STREETS.
The disclosures in THE TIMES was the subject of general discussion on the streets yesterday, and the course of Mayor Workman and Mr. Humphreys was universally indorsed. The alieged report in the Heraid came in for very severe criticism, and was commented on in anything but a favorable manner. It is said that Chief Cuddy declared yesterday morning that he had dictated the report, and that Mr. Patton wrote it. Mr. Patton, it may be remarked, has generally been supposed to have been for some weeks past in the employ of Uncle Sam as Register of the Government Land Office at this point, and has been so treated, but if the gentleman still insists on mixing himself up in local politics, a new course of procedure will be necessary. But to return to first principles, there is no gainsaying the fact that public sentiment against gambling in every shape and manner is increasing, and that any one countenancing this evil would stand no show before the people. The day of the gamblers in Los and the course of Mayor Work creasing, and that any one countenancing this evil would stand no show before the people. The day of the gamblers in Los Angeles is past.

Both Mayor Workman and Mr. Humphreys were seen by a Times reporter last evening, and both gentlemen say there will be no let up. They say they know they are right, and will not recede an inch from the position they have taken.

ANOTHER BAID. ANOTHER RAID. Last night about 10 o'clock the China-town squad, under Detective Flickner, raided another lottery game, capturing three players, who were taken to the police station, and released on depositing $5 bail each.

THE M'DUFFEES AGAIN.

They Attempt to Force a Poor Wo-man into Paying Them.

The case of the McDuffees against Mrs. Green was argued before Justice Austin yesterday afternoon and taken under adsuit brought by the McDuffees against Mrs. Green to recover the balance on a contract for locating Gov-erning lands, a full account of which was published in THE TIMES some weeks ago lands. The McDuffees agreed to locate Mrs. Green on a good section of school land, in consideration of which she was to pay them $160. She paid them $50 on account, when it occurred to her that she had better investigate the matter before sinking any more money, as it was shown that numerous people had been swindled by the fraudulent representations of this firm. She looked into the case, and found that she had been taken in. She then refused to pay any more money, and offered to forfeit the $50 already paid. This, however, did not satisfy the McDuffees, who commenced a systematic course of persecution, and finally wound up by bringing suit. The decision will be watched with some interest, as, in case they are successful, it is probable that other suits will be brought against parties who have refused to be swindled. lands. The McDuffees agreed to locate

ROCK MASONS.

They Demand Higher Wages and Go Out on a Strike.

There is trouble in the camp of the festive stone mason. The gentlemanly artists in big rocks have been engaged in kicking right and left during the past eight or ter days, and after holding several very noisy meetings the affair reached a climax last Sunday evening, and work on all buildings was suspended Monday. It seems that the stone masons held a stormy meeting one evening last week and made up their minds to demand $5 a day instead of $4.50, which they have been getting for some time past. There was a little kicking in the first meeting, and they adjourned without having accomplished anything. But the leaders were no, content with the turn affairs had taken, so they went to work in earnast and soon convinced their fellow-workmen that it was nothing but just for them to have $5 a day. All steps necessary to get what they wanted were taken, but the bosses refused to comply, and the union ordered the men to go out on strike last Monday, and now work on the new courthouse, the City Hall, the Bryson block, and several other large buildings is almost at a standstill. evening last week and made up their minds

* ELTON OFF FOR PRISON.

The Convicted London Crook Anx-

yesterday morning when Elton, the per-jured witness in the Lucas case, found that he would have to go to the State's prison for he would have to go to the State's prison for a term of five years, he became very uneasy and seemed anxious to unbosom himself. It is said that he announced that he must see a city officer, for he had made up his mind to tell the whole truth about the Lucas case. He said he had understood that if he stood in and fied about Lucas he would be allowed to go scott free himself and put Lucas in the hole. He thought when he fixed up the story on Lucas that he (Lucas) had story on Lucas that he (Lucas) had so many enemies among the city de tectives that they would allow him (Elton) to turn State's evidence, and by so doing he would escape. When this cold-blooded scheme fell through, the wretch weakened and asked to be permit ted to make a confession, but his change o heart had come too late, for he was sent to San Quentin by the noon train yesterday before the officer to whom he wished to make a confession could be found. This will knock the bottom out of the cas against Lucas, for Elton—was the only with will knock the bottom out of the case against Lucas, for Elton—was the only witness, and now that he says that Lucas did not know that the $2 worth of stolen property had been stolen by Elton when he gave it to Lucas, the county will probably be saved an expense of $3000 or $4000.

LOCAL POLITICS.

But Little Doing at Present-A Club Meeting Last Night. There is but little doing as yet in local politics, but after the National Republican Convention the campaign will open up in earnest. It is said that all of the present incumbents are candidates for reëlection, but it is yet too early to say what their chances are. Mr. Kays, it is said, has suddenly developed a great desire to succeed himself, which may complicate matters for Mr. Barrett. Martin Aguirre and Jim Meredith are keeping up their still hunt, and Deputy Constable Clement is not letting anything slip. It is believed that the recent report of the Grand Jury has effectually killed off Aguirre, as he could hardly get much support with that document staring him in the face. Taney, it is said, will make a strong fight to keep his present position, but will hardly get there, as many members of his own party say they would "bolt" on him. Although it is a long way off, the current gossip is that John P. Moran is setting his pins for the Mayor's chair, which his friends claim he could fill—at least bodily. Altogether, the outlook is very promising for a lively campaign all along the line. Mr. Barrett. Martin Aguirre and Jim Mer-YOUNG REPUBLICANS.

On motion, it was then decided to suspend the rules and elect the names offered in nomination, which having been done, the nominees were deciared duly elected. The surprised McKinley, having been escorted to the chair, made a short address, after which a number of speeches were delivered by members of the club.

BUNCO SWINDLERS

the Political Tinhorn Wire pullers Protecting Them.

There have as yet been no arrests in the bunco swindle perpetrated several days ago in Jacobs' block, on Upper Main street when a young Scotchman named John Mc-Levin was robbed of $400. McLevin was at the police station yesterday to see what had been done in the case, but apparently govery little satisfaction. If the officers know anything they keep it severely to them selves and say nothing. It is said that they selves and say nothing. It is said that they suspect a prominent gang in this city, but their suspicions do not seem to be strong enough to warrant an arrest. Ot course there may be nothing wrong in the matter, but it looks strange, to say the least, that this same gang appears to enjoy immunity, no matter who is Chief of Police. Under the late Darcy they figured in half a dezen flagrant swindles, when not even an arrest was made, and under the present Chief and captain of detectives, it looks as if it will be equally hard to do anything with them. It cannot be said that the men are unknown to the authorities, for the leader has been in the city several years, and has always pursued his very questionable calling. The thing is getting to be very much of a chest-nut.

Runaway.

An exciting runaway occurred yesterday morning on Main street. A team attached to a dirt wagon started from the City Hall and ran down Main to Fifth street, where it collided with a street car. The wagon was broken to pieces. The horses escaped unhurt. The passengers in the car were badly scared and one lady fainted.

Good Work of the Grand Jury Thrown Away - Judge Gardiner Gives His Reasons for Killing the Indictments-The Opinion in Full.

The order of the court in the Rodman and Schwartz gambling cases was yesterday handed down by Judge Gardiner. The indictments found by the Grand Jury against the proprietors of the Turf and Grain Exchange were the only ones of any importance, or in which large interests were involved, and now that they have been dismissed it is interesting to note the reason why the court has made its present order. The law requires that in the drawing-up of an indictment certain rules must be observed. In these—either from ignorance or deliberate intention—the requirements of the law have been set at naught, with the result that the proprietors of a game which the public, either rightly or wrongly, believes to have been simply a vehicle for fleecing those foolish enough to invest their money, have escaped from the meshes of the law, and may quietly wait until they imagine the time is again ripe to run the electric clock in the cause of public "immorality." For these reasons the following decision of Judge Gardiner is worthy of perusal:

In Superior Court, county of Los Ange-The order of the court in the Rodman and decision of Judge Gardiner is working perusal:

In Superior Court, county of Los Angeles, State of California—People of the State vs. Rodman et al.
The closing brief herein was not handed in until June 7th, hence the ruling in this decision.

Defendants move to set aside the indict-ments herein on several grounds, but since we regard one of the grounds to be well taken it is not necessary to consider the others.

others.

The law requires that the names of the witnesses examined by the Grand Jury be indorsed on the indictment, and the failure to make such indorsement is by the statute expressly made sufficient ground for setting aside the indictment. This provision of the statute has been upheld by the Supreme Court of this State, and its validity is not herein denied by counsel for the State.

State.

The name of one, Mr. Humphreys, does not appear among the indorsements on the indictments. The only disputant point here is upon the contention of the District Attorney that Mr. Humphreys was not examined by the Grand Jury as a witness upon the charges set forth in the indictment. But the transcript of the testimony is conclusive against the District Attorney's contention on this point.

At page 8 of the testimony it appears that a question was asked Mr. Humphreys at the hearing of this motion referring to the charges herein found against defendant as follows: "Were you a witness before the present Grand Jury in reference to this matter?" Answer: "Yes, sir." Question: "Before the indictments were found?" Answer: "Yes, sir." Yes, sir."

matter?" Answer: "Yes, sir." Question:
"Before the indictments were found?" Answer: "Yes, sir."

True it is that in a subsequent statement the same witness stated that he was before the Grand Jury twice, and that the second time he came upon his own motion to offer explanations as to why the City Council granted license to the exchange referred to in the indictments herein, and while there for that purpose he was incidentally asked about the matter involved in the indictments and that he had no personal knowledge of any one sustaining losses betting at the concern, but that he had been appointed on a committee to examine about the "control and internal movements of the concern"; that he had examined it as," all member of the committee; that he "had investigated it," and that he explained to the Grand Jury what he knew about it.

It needs no argument to show that his testimony before the Grand Jury cannot upon this motion be deemed to have been immaterial, as, in substance, John E. Plato, another member of the Grand Jury, testifies, on the hearing of this motion, that Mr. Humphreys came into the Grand Jury room prior to the finding of these indictments and stated what he had ascertained as a member of the Council in examining the matter.

And there is no testimony to the contrary member of the Council in examining the matter.

And there is no testimony to the contrary on this hearing, except that it appears from the testimony of Mesmer that the evidence of the witness Mr. Humphreys was heard after the Grand Jury had voted upon the question of the indictments, and upon that theory Mr. Mesmer says that "Humphreys's testimony was given after the jury had found their indictment."

But it is nevertheless conceded that the testimony of the witness Humphreys was heard by the Grand Jury before the indictments were presented to the court, and since it is not contended that the writer of the indictments was not under the control of the Grand Jury until they made the presentation to the court, as much as after their formal vote as before it was taken, it is difficult to draw the conclusion that Mr. Humphreys was not a witness before the Grand Jury upon the matter of these charges.

Suppose Mr. Humphreys had testified that

Suppose Mr. Humphreys had testified that from his examination of the concern he satfrom his examination of the concern he satfrom his examination of the concern he sat-isfied himself that defendants had violated no law, and suppose he had stated no law, and suppose he had stated facts within his knowledge to support his conclusion, and suppose that the Grand Jury had believed all his statements to be true, is it difficult to see that, notwithstanding the former vote, the jury would nevertheless not have presented the indictments? Again, is the information that Mr. Humphreys gave to the Grand Jury and District Attorney in the Grand-Jury room any less useful to the State or detrimental to defendants in the future prosecution of the indictments because given after a formal vote was taken by the jury or because Mr. Humphreys came there for another purpose, or because his testimony was incidentally given?

phreys came there for another purpose, or because his testimony was incidentally given?

That the State used him as an accuser is apparent, and that his testimony was material (since he stated that he had made a personal investigation of the concern), is no less apparent. The purpose of the law to inform the defendant by indorsement upon the indictment of the names of his accusers is well settled.

The law does not preclade the grand jurors from examining other witnesses after they have voted to indict the defendant and prior to presentment of the indictment. But if they do examine such witnesses their course is easy as well as apparent. They should furnish the District Attorney with a list of the new names, or he should indorse them on the indictments, and they should not rely for excuse for their failure upon the idea that a vote for indictment had been formerly taken, or that the witness came to the jury-room for another purpose.

The indictments herein should be dismissed, and it is so ordered

A Burgiar Captured.
Last night, about 10 o'clock, Nightwatch-man Ingram, at Lankershim's mill, on Alameda and Requena streets, noticed a Chimeda and Requena streets, noticed a Chinaman acting suspiciously, when he staggered down the street feigning drunkenuess, and fell down behind a barrel, where he pretended to be asleep. Shortly after the Chinaman came along, and seeing him lying down, gave him a kick or two, and thinking he was dead drunk, proceeded to "roll" him in the most approved style, going through his pocket and capturing his watch. He waited until the heathen got through with him and started up the street, when he went after him. Officer Grubbs was also called, and the Chinaman brought to the station. When he was searched, Ingram's watch was found in his pocket. He was locked up, charged with robbery. The heathen gave the name of Ah Sing, and his chances for a journey to San Quentin are first class.

Ebenezer Powers, who was recently arrested for cutting timber on Government lands on an indictment found last September by the United States Grand Jury, will be arraigned in the District Court this morning. A curious feature of the case is that the defendant is stone deaf, and as the statute requires that a prisoner must be confronted with his accusers, the question of law arises whether it will not be necessary to conduct the entire trial of Powers by means of questions and answers of witnesses inscribed on the blackboard in order that the defendant may be informed of what he is accused.

influence of liquor is very quarrelsome. He has frequently made threats against his wife's life, and told her yesterday that

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

The Democratic "Ratify" at Pomona POMONA, June 10.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] The Democrats did, sure enough, have a "high old time" here last night at their ratification meeting. They had a torch light procession, with about 40 persons in line. Three Missourians on mules made one of the features of greatest interest. The remainder of the crowd were nearly all boys.

The Hon. R. F. del Valle fell far be low his usual high standard of oratory, and failed entirely to create any en-and failed entirely to create any enthusiasm.

Local speakers were then brought forward, all of whom developed the fact that they were strangers both to Cleveland's message and the National Democratic platform. One of them said, on taking the stand, that he "felt like he had rather be at home and in bed," when several persons in the audience called out, "We feel so, too." The orator, of course, took his seat. Another one of the speakers simply announced that he was a Missourian, and of course it would be expected that he, of all others, would give a hearty support to the Democratic ticket. An old gray-headed man was then introduced, who said: "The Republicans say Thurman is too old. Who," said he, "has grubbed out your cornfields? Who has dug your roads along the hillsides? Who has killed all the snakes? We old men have done it all! Consequently we say, give us the old man with the red bannal" [Tumultuous applause.] He then took his seat close behind the chairman, where ite was completely hidden from view. The fact is, Mr. Editor, the Oregon election has "broke them all up" and they are badly demoralized and will be worse has 'broke them all up' and they are badly demoralized and will be worse after November 6th. Yours truly, PROTECTION.

A LUCKY TRIAL

DEAR SIR: It affords me great pleasure to send you this voluntary statement of my experience in testing the merits of the Baraparilla. For the past two years i have the Baraparilla. For the cedincly suggish liver, and within the past two years it has brough the within its trail a through ly disordered stomach, including loss of specific and distress after eating, pains in the back and kidneys, and boils around my neck and face. I have tried several remedies which are advertised as specially for the liver, and never could get more than temporary relief of about a week or two. I was recommended to try a bottle of Joy's Vegetable Sarraparilla as a test, and while taking the first bottle I became convinced of its merits for I could feel it was working a change in mo. I have taken five bottles, and during that time my troubles have left me. Everything is working full and regular, in fact it has cleansed, purified and braced me up generally. I feel like a new man. You areat perfect liberty to use this as you see fit, or you can refer whom you please to

A DEMOCRATIC party with a Demohave today a Democratic party with a canners, who, of course, desire to buy Cleveland policy, which it unwillingly at the lowest possible price. The cansupports. It is a spectacle for gods and men.

THE Democratic standard is a bandana handkerchief. For every bandana displayed between now and November let there be unfurled among the Republican voters an American flag-the glorious ensign of the Union-"not a star obliterated and not a stripe erased.'

AND thus it is that the Chicago Times evades the tremendous question of the tariff:

'If the Democratic delegates assembled at St. Louis have shown a disposition to shirk the tariff question, perhaps they are not to be blamed for it. It is part of the duty that every man owes to himself and his family to give the tariff question a cold shoulder whenever a good opportunity pre-sents itself. Alas and alack! such oppor-tunities are becoming rarer every day."

Ir doesn't look as if there would be much chance for the Democracy in New Orleans hereafter, for the report comes that "the city is cleaning up." Funds for that purpose are being raised by voluntary subscription, and over $10,000 has already been subscribed. When that sum has been properly expended the great unwashed will hardly feel at home in New Orleans.

"GATH" has in the San Francisco Examiner a fine and favorable sketch of John Sherman, in the nature of an interview with the Senator. His friends put it at 300 and over.

RESIDENTS in the northwestern suburbs complain that their access to the city by private conveyance is almost entirely cut off, unless it be reached by some roundabout and difficult road. Their direct and shortest routes to town was by Temple street, but that thoroughfare has become so occupied by street and other railroads driving upon it is no longer safe. That portion of the roadway which is not occupied by the dummy road is being torn up for an extension of the cable Bellevue avenue be graded and kept free from steam and other railways.

Fruit-growers in a Tight Place

The California Fruit Grower, a new San Francisco weekly, which is apparently devoted more to the interests dealers in than growers of fruit, publishes an article entitled "City and Country Canneries," in which it seeks to prove that it is almost hopeless for small country canning establishments to attempt to compete with the large San Francisco concerns, owing to increased price of tin, boxes and so forth

This strikes us as being a very poor line of argument-for the fruit-grow ers. In this connection, we note that the parties who purchased the great Lusk cannery of San Francisco which recently failed, have announced that they do not propose to run the cannery this season. The Lusk cannery had become a sort of branch of W. T. Coleman & Co. One of the causes of the failure of that firm was its ambition to corner everything in sight. Just before their failure they were trying it on fruit, having made contracts for enormous quantities of fruit for canning at good prices. Many of these contracts had beeen made through the Lusk Canning Company, and when Coleman failed that concern had to follow. The fruit-growers who made contracts with the firm now find themselves with fruit ripening and no arrangements made for the marketing of it. Many believe that the buyers of the Lusk establishment are merely letting the growers "sweat," so that they may buy fruit at their own price. Should they not start up, a large pro-portion of the California fruit crop this season will go to waste. The disproportion between the fruit crop of the State and the canning capacity has all along been very great. With the withdrawal of the Lusk cannery from the field and considering the immense crop of fruit this year it will be far more serious.

This shows how utterly fallacious and misleading is the line of argument pursued by the journal to which we referred above. THE TIMES has always urged, and would now more strongly urge, the establishment of canning and drying factories in every deciduous fruit-producing section. Every fruit-grower should own one of the cheap family dryers, which are now made in great variety, and every fruitgrowing section should have its cooper ative cannery. In this manner only can the growers insure a fair return for their labor and investments, and avoid the danger of finding themselves with a big crop of ripening fruit and no outlet for it. Every year there has been the same cratic policy is a thing of the past. We struggle between the growers and the ners are organized, the growers are not, and the eonsequence of course has been that the latter have had to suffer. To such an extent has this been the case that many fruit-growers have gone out of the business in disgust, when, had there been an organized means of marketing their crop, they might have made large profits. Fruit-growing is going to be the leading industry of the State, and it is important that those engaged in the industry should secure every legitimate encouragement. What is needed now is a number of cooperative canning and drying establishments, wherever there is enough fruit grown to furnish a steady supply. The cost of such factories are very moderate, and entirely within the means of a few score horticulturists of average means Until this is done, fruit-growing in California will continue to be a precarious and frequently unprofitable industry, whereas, with proper facilities for marketing, it is more remunerative than any other occupation in the State which requires so moderate a capital. THE Mayor and a number of members of the City Council paid a visit to South Los Angeles, yesterday, and sat isfied themselves that the sewerage question is a very serious and pressing one. The inhabitants of the section where the sewage debouches into the open fields are justly indignant at the continued maintenance of this insuffer able nuisance in their midst. The courts are with them, and the city has been given twenty days in which to abate the nuisance. This places the city gov ernment in an awkward fix. A year ago plans and estimates were fully pre pared for a complete sewer system to the ocean. Had the work been commenced then, it would be now well or its way to completion. The only practicable solution of the present difficulty seems to be the plan suggested by Tu TIMES for a continuation of the branch sewer along the Ballona Railroad track to the slough. This would be inexpensive, and could be completed within the time granted by the court. STEPHEN M. WHITE is reported as torn up for an extension of the cable system. A petition will be presented to the Council on Monday asking that the Republican delegates from California would spring Stanford on the convention, and to have specu lated on the effect which half a million dollars would have if distributed among the delegates. Mr. White may have made such remarks to a reporter but we do not believe he meant what he said to any considerable extent: Even Republican delegates are of course human, and it is possible that a number of them would consider an inlependent fortune as a very satisfactory price for their consciences and honor, but we do not believe that any such temptation will be placed in their path. It is not likely that Mr. Stanford will pay half a million dollars for the chance of a nomination to an office which he would have no chance of ob taining, for his defeat-in the highly improbable event of his nomination would be a foregone conclusion.

A CORRESPONDENT Of THE TIMES (Mr. W. L. Vail of Pasadena) writing from San Francisco relative to the California delegation to Chicago quoted one of our Los Angeles delegates as uttering these statements:

H. Z. Osborne of the Evening Expressaid that while there is no settled sentiment in the California delegation for the Pressent dential nomination, they will all hang to gether. In regard to the possible nominee he thinks there is no way of knowing much concerning it. Said Mr. Osborne: "Judge Gresham, whose boom seems to be spreadconcerning it. Said Mr. Osborne: "Judge Gresham, whose boom seems to be spreading like a contagion just now, will have his chances seriously compromised before the convention by the action of the Harrison men in dividing the State vote. If nonlineless Judge Gresham could not receive the else Judge Gresham could not receive the nomination. in my opinion, owing to his cold attitude toward Blaine in the last campaign. Of the other probable candidates, and there are a great many, Senator Sherman will probably be the most available. He stands head and shoulders above all others since Blaine's retirement and is universally popular both East and West. While the coming election will hinges more upon principle than upon men, there is no leader left in the Republican ranks who would do more to arouse the sentiment and at the same time command the public confidence than John Sherman of Ohio."

THE Trombone takes its readers into its confidence and informs them, under promise of secrecy, of the astounding fact that its editor, "Col. Eastman," has twice during the past year declined pressing invitations from the Hon. Joseph Medill to accept an editorial position on the Chicago Tribune, which position, we are given to understand, he gracefully but firmly declined. Workman and Humphreys who have been preventing him. At least that is what Mr. Cuddy says in an article written by his man Friday, H. W. Patton, published in the Herald, and believed to have been dictated by Cuddy. Mr. Cuddy has a great deal to say about the State law and the city law as factors in this gambling question. It is curious that we never heard anything about this before. You just arrest gamblers whenever and wherever you find them at work, Mr. Cuddy. That is your business. The law officers will attend to the convictions. You need not worry about that.

Gossip Among Delegates at Chicago-Sherman's Strength.

Gov. Hill's Attempt to Swallow the St. Louis Platform.

New Presidential Candidate Bobs Up from Phila delphia-Maine Republicans Nominate Burleigh-Vermont Prohibitionis's- Coast Delegates at Salt Lake City.

By Telegraph to The Times. SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.-[Special.] The Examiner this morning publishes an interview which "Gath," the well-known newspaper correspondent, had with Chaunnewspaper correspondent, had with Chaun-cey M. Depew, on topics of national inter-est. Depew said that he is heartly in favor of building defenses along our coast. He thought the reason why no extensive ap-propriations had been made was that the ple of the interior of the great West do not realize the vast aggregation of wealth in seaboard cities and their defenseless con dition, and consider any great outlay there-for unnecessary. He thought that eastern people were now in accord with those of the Pacific slope in the matter of Chines immigration, but that all restrictions of such immigration should be made under the omity treaties enforced by amend and laws against Chinese laborers' admis sion. He thought that we do not desire the wages of our artisans to be reduced to any such figures as those which laborers in other countries receive, and that protection is almost wholly now a question of wages.

When asked if these higher wages do not aise, the cost of articles to the consumer, he replied that nearly everything is lower in untry now than when the tariff was low. For example, he said, before the duty was put on the Bessemer steel rail production, the New York Central Railroad paid as high as $125 per ton for imported steel rails. It was at first supposed that we had not skill, perhaps not the material, to undertake this branch of business; but the manufacture has gone on until steel rails are now selling for $30 per ton. To take off duty might for a little while benefit the railroads, but they would discover the mis-take, for if our mills were to close these rails would go up to $40, $59, perhaps $75

As regards wool, a manufacturer on the his road told him that if articles of wool and worsted manufacture were ruled out of the protective scale he must close up his mill. He had another case in mind. There is a factory near Syracuse, N. Y., which employs 1000 persons i nmaking soda ash used in soap and other manufactures. This factory represents a dependent population of 7000 people, and property amounting to several millions. This industry is omitted from the Mills Bill, and there is nothing to do if the bill passes but to close up business and let the factory remain idle. Yet there has been no outcry about the excessive cost of the soap production. Soap never has been so cheap.

Turning to the question of the Pacific Railroad's debt, he thought that if the roads were given a long bond at such interest as is now current, it would be better for all concerned than if they were forced to sale and everything confiscate As to the candidacy for the Presidency of the United States, he had taken no steps hitherto in that direction because he had tendered his aid to Mr. Blaine, who, he thought, had a wider reaching strength and popularity than any other Republican. He resented the suggestion and would not have the imputation cast upon the office which he held of president of the New York Central, that because he may be worthy in such an office he is therefore not worthy to take a public trust and fulfill it conscientiously. He did not, however, declare that he sought the nomination at the hands of the Chicago Convention.

Hill said that he agree Ingalls; not in the sense meant by the President of the Senate, but in the sense that any man, however obscure, might aspire to that lofty position. Intending an insult to the President and the Democratic party, he had unconsciously paid a tribute to both and to American institutions. Concerning the platform, Gov. Hill said: "We favor freer trade, but not free trade. The Democratic platform, while not in every respect as some of us may desire, sufficiently expresses the principle of tariff reform to which we are all committed. If I thought our platform favored free trade I should not be here tenight. I believe in revision in the interest of the people, and not in that of monopolies. We may differ about the details of tariff measures, but we are all agreed upon the main and essential principles of our platform, which is that unnecessary taxation shall cease, and that favoritism shall not be the controlling feature of our tariff legislation.

At another point in his address he said: "But, notwithstanding the attitude of their Representatives in Congress and their persistent opposition to all measures for relief from taxation, I venture the prediction that in the forthcoming Chicago Convention their platform will explicitly declare in favor of some revision of the tariff. They will find that public sentiment will be too strong to be longer resisted, and they will endeavor to ride with the current."

He replied to the charge that Thurman is too old for the Vice-Presidency, by stating the ages of many promirent men of the present and past in this country.

The State Convention Meets-Chair-man Manley's Speech. PORTI AND (Me.), June 12.—[By the Associated Press.] The Republican State Convention bids fair to be the largest and most enthusiastic held here for years. At 11 o'clock the convention hall was packed, fully 3000 persons being present. Chairman Manley called the convention to order, and after prayer Andrew Meiswell, temporary chairman, delivered the opening address.

chairman, delivered the opening address.

A large portion of his speech was devoted to criticism of the action of the President in not sustaining civil service reform theories, and in his failure to meet the fishery question. The President's free trade message was adversely commented on, and compared with the action of Blaine, whose outspoken utterances were commended by the speaker. He said that Maine was largely interested in the Tariff Bill, which would disastrously affect the iumber interests of that State. The people have had enough of three years of Democratic administration with its blunders, and they now want a President who will protect American citizens on land or sea, and that man was James G. Blaine; but if they could not have him the Republicans of Maine would follow with unbroken ranks the leadership of the Chicago nominee. Aliusions to Blaine were received with enthusiastic applause, repeated again and again.

Mr. Burleigh was nominated for Governor on the first ballot.

The platform adopted contains the following tariff plank:

"Resolved, that free trade as taught by the British Cobden Club and supported by Grover Cleveland and the Democratic party is hostile to the industrial and business interests of the United States, and that the Mills Tariff Bill should be opposed by all honorable and effective influences which the friends of American labor can exert, both in Congress and among the people.

"Resolved, that it is the duty of Congress to reduce the national revenue to an amount which will equal as nearly as possible the

"Resolved, that it is the duty of Congress to reduce the national revenue to an amount which will equal as nearly as possible the annual expenditures of the Government, including therein liberal provisions for our veteran soldiers and proper means of national defense, and that this should be done in a way not to impair our Republican protective system, which has proved of inestimable value to American labor and our home markets."

SACRAMENTO, June 12.—[By the Associated Press.] Chief of Police Lee, who has been investigating the circumstances of the death of John Lowell, the wealthy rancher, whose body was found buried on his ranch near Folsom last week, had William Dagger, alias Liverpool Bill, arrested on sus-picion. Dagger at once made a statement in which he said that he accompanied two men, named Myers and John Olsen, to the vicinity of Lowell's ranch, where they procured some livestock which was afterwards sold here and in Woodland. He de-nied, however, any knowledge of Low-ell's death and said that the men gave him to understand that the stock belonged Acting on this information, and learning that Myers had gone to the south-ern part of the State under the name of Otto Schoenfield, Chief Lee caused his arrest yesterday at Tehachepi, and he is now on his way here.

The search for Olsen has at last resulted in finding him working on a ranch in Sutter county. Today he was identified by an anchor tattooed on the back of one hand. After much persuasion he confessed to Chief Lee that he accompanied Myers and Dagger to Lowell's ranch. On their arrival Myers, who knew Lowell, borrowed the latter's gun, and then all the parties left the house for the estensible purpose of looking at some stock. Olsen and Dagger were in the lead, Myers and Lowell following. They had not gone far when they heard the report of the gun, and, turning, saw Lowell fall to the ground. According to Olsen's story, Myers compelled them to assist him, at the point of the gun, in burying the remains, which they wrapped in an old canvas tent. They then took a team, buggy and several head of stock. Olsen said he received but $75 from the sale of the stock.

The statement was taken in writing, and Olsen was placed in jail here.

Owing to the condicting evidence as to whether Lowell came to his death from a shot or a blow, it has been decided to exhume the body and make another examination. The search for Olsen has at last resulted

St. Louis. Press. The Surveyor of the Port, R. D. Lancaster, yesterday afternoon swooped down upon a piano box at the Wabash freight depot, marked "Piano, handle with care, Mrs. L. Lewis, Tulare, Cal.;" and decare, Mrs. L. Lewis, Tulare, Cal.;" and deposited in the United States government warehouse, where it was opened and found to contain 1200 tin cans filled with opium, aggregating 685 pounds. The opium is prepared for smoking, and the duty on it amounts to $6850. The commercial value is $23,975. The officials will give no information, but this seizure is apparently a general attack along the line, and developments are promised shortly that may implicate many officials in the customs service. So far as could be learned today, the opium is shipped to interior points of entry and from there reshipped until lost sight of. The officials say that in order that this reshipping may be successfully attended to it requires assistance from the inside.

A Catastrophe Averted. DULUTH (Minn.), June 12.—Not only is there no abatement in the St. Louis river flood, but the situation grows more serious every hour, and the impression deepen every hour, and the impression deepens that a great catastrophe to Cloquett and its lumbering interests by the breaking away of logs there will occur within a few hours. The water has risen over a foot today and is still rising. If the jam breaks the logs will carry away all the houses on the island, 25 or 30 in number, and probably Nelson's mill also. It is raining hard tonight.

"BIG BERTHA,"

The Confidence Queen, and Her Alleged Son

Held for Trial on Several Charges of Crookedness.

Bertha's Former Suitor Tells the Tale of His Woes.

How He Thought to Get a Fortune with the Con pulent Imposter-The Methods of "Willie" and His "Mamma" Ventilated by Their Victims.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.-- [By the Asso ciated Press.] The principal witness today in the trial of Bertha Stanley, known as the "confidence queen," was William Gruhn, who testified that he met the defendant at Rev. Dr. Messing's house and fell in love with her. She represented herself to be wealthy, saying that she had $80,000 in the Anglo-California Bank, and the finest house and horses in La Salle, Ill. As he was looking forward to the future, this was certainly an inducement to him, but he was really in love with her. When they became engaged he gave her a diamond ring worth $250. She gave him a ring, which she told him she purchased from Parsons, the jeweler, for $285, but when she left for Los Angeles she took the ring from him, telling him that it was not in keeping with her wealth, and that she would send him a costlier one. They were to be married when she settled her business in the East and returned here. Witness was no relative of Dr. Messing. The charge of grand larceny against

The charge of grand larceny against Willie Stanley "Big Bertha's" son, was then taken up. Parsons, the jeweler, said that Stanley, in March, obtained from him a diamond pin and earrings, valued at $1050 for his mother, promising to pay for them in 10 days, or as soon as he received money he had drawn from the La Salle Bank. Afterward witness saw these diamonds in "Big Bertha's" ears. When he went with the couple to Los Angeles he was given a power of attorney to collect his money or return to this city, but the draft was worth less. The diamonds were pawned by her son, Willie, in Los Angeles for $350, and the pawn ticket was sent to witness, who paid the money and recovered the jewels. Gruhn was recalled, and testified that Bertha told him that the diamonds were a present from a rich uncle in New York.

Mrs. Stanley was then placed on the stand and asked several questions; among others if her true name was not Bertha Herman, all of which she answered eyasively, or declined to reply, and the prosecution rested. The false pretence evasively, or declined to reply, and the prosecution rested. The false pretence charges b rought by Gruhn, who alleges that the pair borrowed $500 from him, and that Willie is not the son, but the husband, of the defendant, were next disposed of.

Gruhn again took the stand and testified to the circumstances of meeting the parties and the tales they told him. The two ciaimed to be worth $600,000 or $700,000 and were on intimate terms with Jay Gould and the Yanderbilts. When Willie asked him for $500, witness consulted with Bertha, who said that Willie probably had been gambling, but asked witness to let him have the money and she would repay him, which she never did. When they became engaged she gave him a $30,000 draft, in order that he might become a big merchant here and that she might introduced him as such among her New York friends, but as she managed to evade going to bank with him, he could not avail himself of the draft.

Witness was then asked a number of draft. Witness was then asked a number of Witness was then asked a number of questions relative to his courtship, which provoked much laughter from those present in court, and was then excused.

J. Lesser, a dealer in shoes, and Gordon Taylor, told of several unpaid bills they held against Mrs. Stanley. The Court refused to admit the evidence of Policeman Parrotte, who said that the attorneys for the couple stated in the courtroom at San Antonio, Tex., that the defendants' names were not Stanley, and that they had never been in California.

Parsons, the jeweler, testined that "Big Bertha" told him in confidence on the morning following the engagement that she didn't know what she was about; that she had foulfil herself engaged before she knew it.

She was arraigned on another charge and knew it. She was arraigned on another charge, and

She was arraigned on another charge, and the four cases were closed. When the court resumed, this afternoon, counsel for the defense said he would make no argument, and Judge Murphy accordingly rendered his decisions, and Mrs. Stanley and son were held on charges of obtaining money from Gruhn under false pretenses, but he held that the evidence did not warrant a committal on the charges of grand larceny brought by Parsons, but it was sufficient to show fraud, and the charge was reduced to obtaining goods on false pretenses, and the defendants were held to answer in $2000 bail each, on two charges. Hullinan & Foster say they will at once furnish bail, and place "Big Bertha" on exhibition.

San Francisco, June 12.—"Big Bertha," the confidence operator, was released to-night on bail, her securities being Hallinan and Foster, theatrical managers, and W. O. Hubbard. SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—"Big Bertha."

RIVAL TOWNS.

Scenes of Lawlessness and Bloodshed in Kansas

TOPEKA (Kan.), June 12.—[By the Associated Press.] A telegram from Brig.-Gen Murray says an alarming state of affairs ex sts in Stevens county, on the frontier, caused by railway-bond elections in the towns of Woodsdale and Hugotown, located about two miles apart, and bitter feelings always existed, growing out of the countyseat fight. R. L. Jones, deputy sheriff, who is Constable of Woodsdale township, and another officer rode into Hugotown and attempted to assassinate Sam Robinson and J. B. Chamberlin, chairman of the Board of County Commissioners. They pretended to have warrants for the arrest of the parties, but, instead of serving warrants, they drew their revolvers and opened fire upon the Marshal and chairman of the board. The fire was returned, and the attacking party retired. One man was seriously wounded.
The inhabitants of both towns are now armed to the teeth, and bloodshed will follow. always existed, growing out of the county-

The Diss de Barr Trial.

NEW YORK, June 12.—In the Diss de Barr case today the "General" denied that he painted the spook pictures. He admitted his illicit relations with the madam. The madam in her testimony gave a rambling account of her life similar to that already published, and went into a paroxysm of rage over the testimony of the Salomons, her brother and sister.

A Piute Murderer sentenced. WADSWORTH, June 12.—The Indian court on the Pyramid Agency has convicted Willie Dunn, a Piute, and seatenced him to be hanged for the murder yesterday of Charley Winnemucoa, son of the deceased chief of all the Piutes. Dunn was intoxicated and attacked his victim with a sharp knife, nearly severing his head from his body. The findings of the court will be sent to Washington for approval.

A TERRIBLE STORY.

A Woman Confesses Poisoning Her Two Children.

PHILADELPHIA, June 12.—|By the Associated Press.] A decided sensation was created today when Mrs. Sarah Jane Whitling voluntarily confessed that she had poisoned her two children and had furnished her heads out the price with which was not because with relieved to the confessed to ished her husband with poison with which she declares, he took his own life on ac count of despondency caused by poverty Mrs. Whitling's victims were her husband John Whitling, her 9-year-old daugh-ter Bertha, and a boy, Wille, 2 years old. The family lived in poverty in the rear of 1227 Cadwalader street. The busband died on March 20th last, the girl on April 24th and the little boy on May 20th. Detectives worked at her for a confession, out until today were unsuccessful. Finally the woman broke down from the weight of her awful secret and made a clean breast of the whole affair. She stoutly maintains that she did not administer poison to her husband. Bertha, she says, she killed because-she did not want her to grow up bad, and the girl already had a propensity for stealing. The little boy she killed because he was in the way. She says she is sorry now, and wants people to pray for her.

So well did she play her part when the children and husband were ill that the physician in each case gave a certificate of death from natural causes. Mrs. Whitling professed great piety, and on Sunday last went to church in the neighborhood of her house, and kneeling at the altar rail asked the prayers of the congregation for the forgiveness of her sins. A post-mortem examination disclosed the fact of the poisoning and the woman was arrested on Sunday and the woman was arrested on Sunday night. There were several policies of insur-ance on the lives of the woman's victims, each of the children and the husband being insured for small amounts but, amounting in the aggregate to $3690, all of which sh

GEN. SHERIDAN.

tle Has Another Quiet Day-Death of His Mother.
WASHINGTON, June 12.—It was stated at the Sheridan residence this afternoon at 12:30 that the General was doing remarkably well. He has rested quietly all the morning and his sleep was not broken by fits of coughing. He relishes what he eats and his appetite seems to be growing.

The following was issued at 9:30 p.m.:
"There is no change in Gen. Sheridan's condition. His pulse is 104 to 106 and of little, and his respiration remains irregular. He takes plenty of nourishment without in-dications of failure of digestion or assimidications of faiture of digestion or assimi-lation. There will be no other bulletin issued till morning. The General has not been informed of the death of his mother." WASHINGTON, June 13, 2:15 a.m.—Gen. Sheridan's condition remains the same as when the 9 o'clock bulletin was issued.

THE GENERAL'S MOTHER DEAD.
SOMERSET, June 12.—The mother of Gen Somerset, June 12.—The mother of Gen. Sheridan died today. Mrs. Sheridan was born in County Carvan, Ireland. She came to the United States in 1828, and to Onio in 1822. She was modest in appearance. Her stature was small-and her weight of late did not exceed 70 pounds. She lived in a home which the General purchase Tor-the family prior to the war. The mother surely was provided with all that her heart could wish for of this world's store. Reports concerning the dangerous condition of her son were studiously kept from her, but she knew that he was sick.

Stocks and Bonds.
by Telegrap to The Times:
New YORK, June 12.—Money on call easy at 1@2 per cent.; last loan, 2 per cent.; closed, offered 2 per cent.

Prime mercantile paper, 4@3\\(\frac{1}{2}\).

Sterling exchange, dull and steady at 4.86\(\frac{1}{2}\) for 60-day bills, 4.82\(\frac{1}{2}\) for demand.

New York, June 12.—The stock market was again very active today, with a fever-ish and weak tone in the forenoon, which was succeeded by a rally later which brought prices up to and, in most cases, above last night's figures. Granger and Gould stocks were once more centers of attention, and in both there were wide and violent fluctua-tions, while outside of these two groups there was very little interest in the market.

Government bonds, dull but steady. Mining shares were firmer.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that i do not consider any case hopeless until both lungs are seriously involved. Even then the inhaintions aid us in dissolving the mucus and in contracting and bealing the cavities which nothing else can do with the same success. same success.

The very best references from those already cured.
